I got the 7-9 option: #7 - The meetings are great; it's the drive to ISC that can be challenging. #8 - I very seldom "worry" about things, I focus on the concerns of the day. And, #12 - the work never being done; I just see that as job security.

Glad to here we are addressing the security issues in the district. The Test really did help me see that I wasn't as knowledgeable as I thought. Creating a higher alert for me.

Mostly the WiFi comes and goes on Laptops old Dell's. Also the Lenovo P40's laptops are always breaking down parts and software issues.
Need to have someone to speak to with question such as scheduling, etc of new technology. I.e. unable to teach David Corona recently about our math boards. I don't want to flood Susan Rivas with questions, once it's been ordered.
NWN arrived to Aragon at 3:20 pm as per Principal Mamaux instructions. They had to wait for parents and school buses arrival to pickup students. NWN ask for me at receptionist desk, by the time I was located it was almost 3:45PM. NWN needed my assistance with unlocking padlocks on old machines before they could be removed. I had to go to Principal and ask for permission to stay after 4pm to be available to assist and also sign off on the delivery. Permission was denied I was told to go home, I left at 4:45 pm.
Science and social studies still waiting for their new technology

We needed more info on the network closet reports, what SLA to set and who to send them to. Also what to do after taking the KnowBe4 on line class.
I did not realize Aragon was receiving a delivery, nor that their arrival time would be after 3:20 pm due to Principal refusal to accept delivery earlier during the day. It would have good if the locks were open just prior to NWN arriving. It might also be beneficial for NWN to be given keys to all locks they may encounter during deliveries in case they can not meet with the campus tech to assist them.
