Name two things you consider yourself to be good at.	Solving problems even when I don't know how
Tell us something exciting about yourself that those at work may not know.	I'm a vegetarian.. but a weird one. I have a tactile fixation, and the texture as I bite into most vegetables bothers me immensely, nearly to the point where I throw up. Crunchy vegetables like celery, onion, the white part of iceberg lettuce, etc are avoided whenever possible. This is mostly just the crunch of cellulose, but mushrooms have another bothersome texture. Onions and mushrooms are both delicious, but unless you cook them clear to mush (FAR softer than anyone typically does) you'll never catch me eating them.
