

Leadership Career Conversations and Performance Planning and Evaluations

During the week of December 18, 2017, Frankie Jackson conducted five leadership career conversations and mid-year performance planning and evaluations. She met with each organizational leader separately to review each leader's progress. In each meeting, she noted areas needed for improvement as well as asking for suggestions about how she can provide support for meeting each leader's career goals.

Mid-Year Performance Evaluations

