

Berry Center LIVESTREAM Backup System for Google YouTube

Teresa Hull called an emergency meeting on Wednesday, May 17, 2017 to discuss a backup system for Google YouTube at the Berry Center. At the recent teacher spotlight ceremony and at the board meeting, there were issues with Google's youtube. Because youtube is free, there is no one to call for support when issues arise. Teresa felt we needed a backup. During the meeting the team decided to use Livestream as the backup. Within a day, the following plan was put into place. This should relieve stress during upcoming graduation ceremonies.

- Livestream account is now setup as www.livestream.com/cfisd
- Opened up Livestream network ports.
- Ran successful test with video, audio sync, system delay, and processing.

Oscar Villar and Paula Ross worked with the Berry Center staff to make sure all was up and in working order. A successful test was completed during the District Leadership Team (DLT) meeting on Thursday, May 18, 2017.
