

Digital Learning

Rich Crishock is a senior programmer and analyst on the ISA team. One of his primary responsibilities is to provision students and teachers into various educational applications.

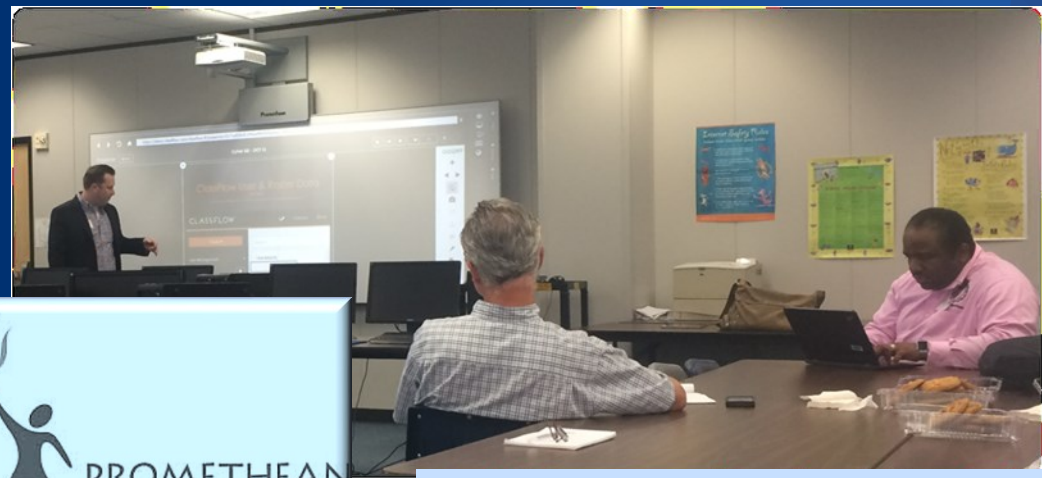

In these provisioning processes, Rich has to maintain the linkage between the Student, Teacher and Classes within the software. With 114,000 students and 7,500 teachers and thousands of courses, this is a difficult task.

Recently Rich embarked on a new project. Steve Stone and the Instructional Technology Department has asked Rich to work with Promethean, a leader in instructional technology, to load provision students into their application. This will allow students to log-in and use the digital resources Promethean provide.

Rich is ensuring that Every Student has access to online learning Every Day.
