1. Keep doing what you're doing.
2. I think using ISC-W labs make CFISD look professional. That building was built using bond money specifically for the additional labs for training purposes (as well as other issues). There are less issues regarding the se up of computers, smartboards, etc.
3. Moral is getting lower and lower. People are working hard, but if you are not in certain sections of the department it feels as though your contributions are worthless.
